LATE TELEGRAMS.

The Revision of England's

Fiscal Principles. London, May 28 .- In the House of commons, this evening, on the motion to adjourn the House for Whitsuntide, Sir Charles Dilke raised a discussion on Mr

Chamberlain's policy.

Mr Balfour replied at some length, and advocated the recasting of our commercial policy in the direction of reciprocity. Mr Chamberlain, he said, was, justified in taking the country's opinion, in view of the resolutions passed at the Colonial Conferonce. Mr Balfour recalled the complete change in circumstancessituee Colklen's day. and suggested abandoning as obsocie the idea of raising revenue for the sole purpose of meeting expenditure; and soid that, if foreign countries treated our Colonies as foreign astions, we must retaliate. ... Mr Chamberlain said that, at hough he did not suggest an entire reversal of our tiscal policy, the application of his suggestions required a new mandate, involving consideration of the general condition of the country and the position of the working classes. Without closer fiscal relationship, the closer political union of the Empire was impossible. The time to produce a definite scheme was when a mundate had been obtained. He thought a tax on raw materials was impossible, He would defend a tax on food, devoting the whole proceeds to Old Age Pensions and Social Reform; and he would certainly press the matter at the next dissolution of Parliament. Mr Labouchere asked if they were Mr Chamberlain's views or those of the whole Cabinet; but the question was not an-

The House then adjourned till the 8th

The Opposition leaders did not participate in the debate; and are awalting Sir H. Campbell-Bannerman's motion on the second reading of the Finance Bill. Calcutta May 31-The London correspondent of The Pionces, wiring on the 20th says The Times, discussing the debate on perferential tariffs, say it is clear a great question of principle is to be laid before the country, whether, in the actual conditions of the world and in presonce of the economical reversal of the relative positions of this and other countries, the nation is content to trust to familiar RABE PALACE and TEMPLE HANGINGS, miantations; or to revise its arrangements in view of its actual needs.

The Standard says it is difficult to re-VELVET PICTURES, and VERY FINE SILK | main inactive when a state of the Empire is being punished for giving preference to the Mother Country. If we had a discriminating tariff we could answer the attack. It is, obvious, it says, that the policy inaugurated by Sir Robert Peel has not folfilled all expectations. The Daily Telegraph says when the evidence is accomulated and weighed it will be the hour of judgment. The Daily Graphic says Mr Chamberlain is likely to find the popularisation of his latest scheme a harder task than the reuncilation of South Africa.

Calcutta, June 1.-The London corresnondent of the Englishman, wiring on May 30th, says that Mr Chamberlain's scheme for taxation of foodstuffs has aroused as much interest as Mr Gladstone's Home Rule Scheme. The Unionist Press give a diffident support, while the Liberal Press strongly oppose it. In general the Unionist members have declared their hostility, thus leading to a possible breach. The London correspondent of the Indian Daily News, wiring on the Slat May, says that Mr Winston Churchill, in a de-

REVOLVING BOOKCASE.

It is a prime necessity of its very existence that the Tenth Edition of the Encyclopædia Britannica should be a work of ample proportions, a great library in itself. This means shelf-room, and shelf-room is not always available. But he especially constructed revolving bookcase of quartered oak, minimises the space occupied, and the volumes arrange themselves in it so that they can easily be reached. A limited number of revolving cases has been sent from London especially for aubscribers in China.

Note: -The foregoing prices can apply only to the first impression of the New Volumes which 'The Times' has prepared in order to bring the original 24 volumes of the Encyclopædia Britannica up to date. An extmordinary demand for the Supplement has made it possible to offer the 35 volumes for considerably less than the prices at which they can be sold hereafter. More than 30,000 persons at home who already possessed the early volumes have subscribed for the supplement, almost all of them in advance of its publication, so that "The Times" was enabled to make one consecutive 'run' on the presses, and thereby to effect a large reduction in manufacturing cost. Subscribers in China are for the moment, on exactly the same footing as subscribers in England, but orders should be registered promptly, as it will not be possible to guarantee indefinitely the acceptance of orders in China at the London prices with the additional concession of free carriage from London to Shangbai and

The Japanese Warships in Australia.

The naval and military review, arran ged in Melbourne as a compliment to the visiting Japanese warships, was held at Albert Park on Saturday, May 16. The review was held under unfavourable conditions, the ground being heavy with the wet, and violent min-squalls being of frequent occurrence. The attendance, both of the soldiers and spectators, consequently suffered. The parade state mers are shortly to take up the remaing. showed that 175 officers and 3336 rank and file were on parade. There were also present a contingent of officers and 460 men from the Japanese warships. At the close of the review a high compliment was paid to the Japanese contingent. The contingent marched to the extreme right of the parade ground, and then, headed by its own band, marched right down the line, receiving hearty cheering, from each section of the troops. The Japanese Admiral has expressed himself delighted with the manner in which the officers and men 563 have been received in Melbourne.

The Rout of the Kano Army.

Further particulars have been receiv. od of the rout of the Kane army by Lieut. Wright's patrol, an achievement which is regarded as one of the most brilliant of modern times. It appears to be almost certain that Lieut. Wright will be awarded the V. C. From latest details, it seems that the force encountered by the British patrol was under the personal command of the Waziri of Kano, and was, it is believed, on its way back to attack the garrison which had been left at Kano. General Kemball recognized from the first the danger of this. and made such dispositions by despatching patrols of mounted infantry on either flank as would prevent the main body being outflanked. General Kemball, with the main column, was haltedat Durn, on the main road to Sokoto, amid dense forest, while the two alternative routes to that city were being watched by the mounted infantry patrol which engaged the Kanoarmy. The only explanation of the trifling loss sustained by the patrol is that the Fulani, seeing tha they were in such overpowering forceabout 80 to 1-that they could have ridder completely over the little square, did no trouble about their marksmanship, relying entirely on the - eight of an overwhelmin charge. KWANGSI FAMINE FUND War and famine are the greatest

The condition of the people will be still more miserable, if in addition to war, they are visited by famine as in the province of Kwangsi at the present moment. It is more than a year now since the rebellion of Kwangsi comthat are troubled by Intest by us from of age in the prefecture of Hain-chow have been sold by their husbands and taken to other provinces to supply the demands file houses of ill fame, on account of the fierce famine now prevailing in that place caused by drought and the operation of war There is every tendency of this great calamity extending to other parts of the province. Rice is sold at more than seven ning, etc., which can get their supply from Kwangtung with comparatively little difficulty. But the supply of rice even to these places is precarious, as Kwangtong is not a rice-producing province, and it is therefore, not safe to rely upon it for the entire supply for any great length of time. Moreover, several places in the province of Kwangtung itself, such as Chinchow, Lienchow, etc., are at present suffering from local disturbances and are threatened by the visitation of famine. If the Chinese Government desires to save the people of Kuangai from being starved to death, it should lose no time in employing overwhelming forces to bring the insurrection to an end so that the farming classes may once more cultivate their fields.

Members of the Stock Exchange have always been noted for their 'grit' and pluck, but when some weeks back it was suggested that many of them should received with a good deal of good-tempered chaff, and the ordinary person reading about it in his daily paper, pictured portly stockbrokers, in the uniform frock coat and top hat, easily ambling towards the never-reached but desired goal. But on the Stock Exchange are to be found men versed in every description of athleticism, and the majority of them are very keen on all outdoor sports, and so it was that on the very dullest day of this very dull spring, when the skies were leaden and the min poured down without cereation, these dealers in finance started on their memorable walk from Westminister at 6.30 in the morning. For the most part the competitors were in ordinary -walk ing dress and only a few favoured knickerbockers or 'shorts.'
